VOICE OF THE SHEPHERD

May His presence renew our hearts and strengthen our commitment to walk in faith as true witnesses of His Gospel.

I prayerfully wish that the blessed season of Christmas may bring you abundant joy, spiritual renewal, and the constant maternal protection of our Blessed Mother Mary. Let us welcome the New Year with renewed zeal, trusting in God's providence for every step of our journey. May Christ the Savior, who is with us always, continue to guide and bless all your endeavors.

Let us become messengers of His love to the world around us. May the light of Christ shine through us in every word and action.

*Wishing you *A Very Happy Christmas and a Grace-filled New Year!

VOICE OF THE DIRECTOR

REV FR. MEDI SLEEVARAJ SDB

*Regional Secretary,
TCBC Commission for Youth
Regional Youth Director, ICYM*

Youth and Christmas Star.

In the quiet glow of the Christmas season, when lights shimmer against winter skies and hearts turn toward hope, one symbol stands brilliantly above all others—the Star. It is the beacon that guided wanderers, the light that broke through darkness, the sign that something new and wondrous had entered the world.

In many ways, youth carry that same light.

Just as the Star appeared in a world longing for direction, young people shine in a world yearning for possibility. Their dreams, unburdened by the weight of years, rise like bright flames. Their questions spark discovery. Their courage opens paths that did not exist before. Like the Star, youth point toward something greater—not just what the world is, but what it can become.

The Christmas Star did not shine because it was the biggest or the closest; it shone because it was purposeful. It held a message of promise. In the same way, every young person carries a unique glow—gifts, ideas, talents—that can illuminate even the coldest season of life. When youth choose kindness, they become a light. When they dare to hope, they brighten the future. When they act with love, they become a guide for others.

Christmas teaches us that light is most powerful in darkness. Youth, too, often shine brightest not because life is easy, but because they believe in joy despite challenges. They remind us that every difficult journey is guided by possibility, and every humble place—like a manger—can hold miracles.

So this Christmas, may we look to the Star and see the reflection of our young people: bright, brave, and full of promise.

And may every youth remember that their light, no matter how small it seems, can guide someone home.

*With Prayerful Wishes,
Rev Fr. Medi Sleevaraj SDB*

A NEW GENERATION OF SAINTS

PIER GIORGIO FRASSATI & CARLO ACUTIS

St. Pier Giorgio Frassati

His Holiness Pope Leo XIV

Pope Leo XIV proclaimed Italians Pier Giorgio Frassati and Carlo Acutis as saints of the Church on Sunday, decreeing their veneration among the Catholic faithful.

The canonizations of the two men, promulgated before an estimated 70,000 people in St. Peter's Square, were the first of Leo's pontificate.

The congregation, which included the family of Acutis, applauded after Pope Leo pronounced the rite of canonization and declared the two patrons of young people as the Church's newest saints.

In his homily, the Holy Father reflected on a passage from the Book of Wisdom, which was read by Acutis' younger brother Michele, during the Mass celebration.

"[Lord], who has learned your counsel, unless you have given wisdom and sent your holy spirit from on high?" Leo said, quoting the Old Testament passage. "This question comes after two young blessed, Pier Giorgio Frassati and Carlo Acutis, were proclaimed saints."

"This is providential because in the Book of Wisdom, this question is attributed to a young man like them: King Solomon. Upon the death of his father David, he realized that he had many things: power, wealth, health, youth, beauty, and the entire kingdom," he continued.

Leo spoke extensively about the two new saints in his homily, departing from his predecessor's practice. Pope Francis normally said little on such occasions about the people he had just canonized.

Like Solomon, Leo said, the new saints Carlo and Pier Giorgio understood that friendship with Jesus and faithfully following “God’s plans” is greater than any other worldly pursuits.

God “calls us to abandon ourselves without hesitation to the adventure that he offers us with the intelligence and strength that comes from his Spirit,” Leo said Sunday.

“We can receive to the extent that we empty ourselves of the things and ideas to which we are attached, in order to listen to his word,” he continued.

The Holy Father also spoke of other young saints throughout history, including St. Francis of Assisi, who saw it was wise to prefer the love of God and others over riches.

“Today we look to St. Pier Giorgio Frassati and St. Carlo Acutis: a young man from the early 20th century and a teenager from our own day, both in love with Jesus and ready to give everything for him,” he said.

“Dear friends, Sts. Pier Giorgio Frassati and Carlo Acutis are an invitation to all of us, especially young people, not to squander our lives but to direct them upwards and make them masterpieces,” he added.

Describing their “winning formula” for holiness, the Holy Father spoke about the ordinary circumstances through which they dedicated their lives to God.

“Pier Giorgio encountered the Lord through school and church groups — Catholic Action, the Conferences of St. Vincent, the FUCI [Italian Catholic University Federation], the Dominican Third Order — and he bore witness to God with his joy of living and of being a Christian in prayer, friendship, and charity,” he said.

“Carlo, for his part, encountered Jesus in his family, thanks to his parents, Andrea and Antonia — who are here today with his two siblings, Francesca and Michele — and then at school, and above all in the sacraments celebrated in the parish community,” he added.

According to the pope, the two Italian saints cultivated their love for God and for their brothers and sisters through “simple acts” of “daily Mass, prayer, and especially Eucharistic adoration,” which are available to every Catholic.

At the end of the Mass, which he concelebrated with approximately 2,000 other priests, Pope Leo invoked the intercession of the Blessed Virgin Mary for peace, “especially in the Holy Land and in Ukraine and in every other land that is facing blood.”

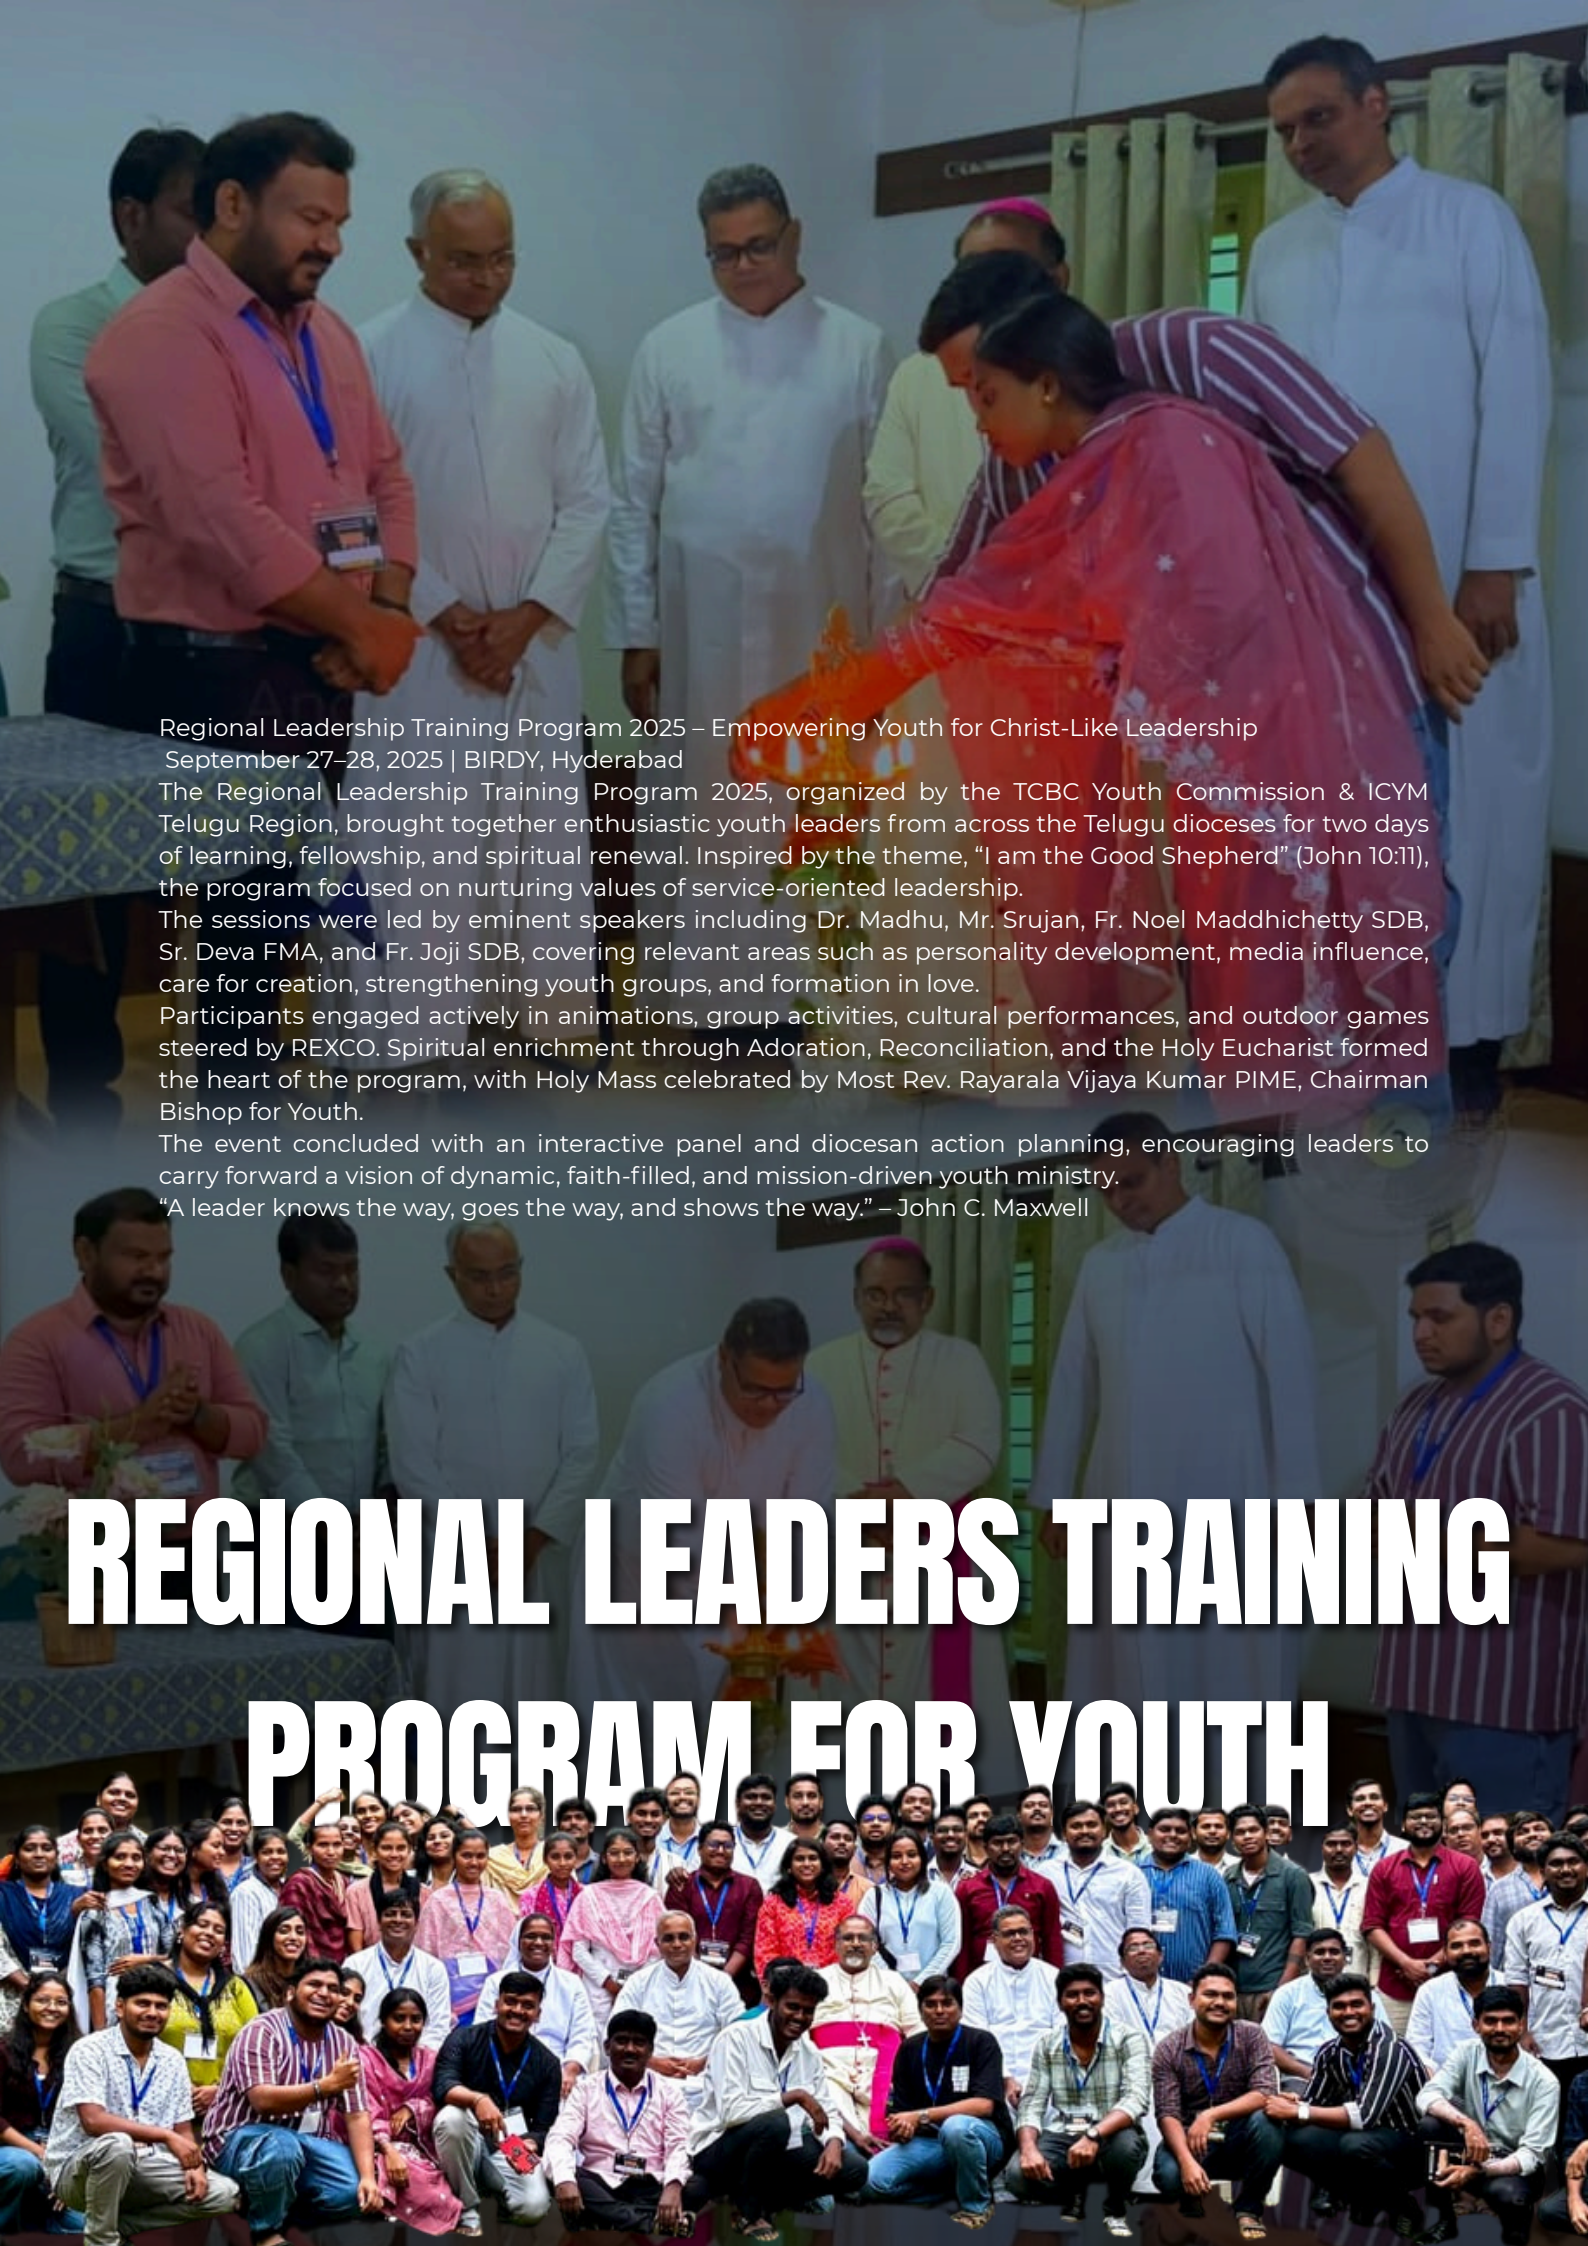

“I invite all the authorities to listen and to put down the weapons that lead to destruction and death ... they never bring peace and security,” he said.

“God does not want war. God wants peace. God sustains those who fight for peace and who follow the path of dialogue,” he added, before leading the congregation in praying the Angelus.

Leo closed out the event by making a circuit of the square in his popemobile, waving at the crowd and stopping frequently to bless babies handed to him by his bodyguards.

ONLINE MEETING

5TH NOVEMBER 2025

The TCBC Commission for Youth held an online meeting with DYDs and REXCOs to discuss preparations for Jwala'25 – Jubilee of Youth. The meeting began with a prayer by Fr. Jerome Lewis and a welcome by Fr. Sleevevaraj SDB, who appreciated the national-level support for regional youth ministry. Key highlights included updates on Jwala'25, scheduled from December 11–14, 2025 at Mariyagiri, Srikakulam, the 67th Regional Youth Elections, and exciting plans for the Sports & Cultural Fest. Details on the Communio Volunteers Program were also shared to ensure smooth execution. Suggestions on travel logistics resulted in shifting the Inaugural Mass to December 12. Clarifications were provided to ensure inclusive diocesan participation. In his address, Most Rev. Bishop Rayarala Vijay Kumar, PIME encouraged all youth to actively join this celebration of faith as Pilgrims of Hope.

TCBC Commission for Youth – Formation Initiative

The TCBC Commission for Youth has always remained committed to forming responsible, faith-filled and mission-oriented young leaders. Continuing this pastoral commitment, the Commission is now reaching out to the seminarians — the future shepherds of our Church — by conducting Group Dynamics and Youth Ministry Classes for the students of Philosophy at Don Bosco Philosophate, Karunapuram, Telangana. This formation initiative reflects the Church's growing awareness that youth ministry today demands more than theory. It requires pastoral sensitivity, relational leadership, and a deep understanding of the struggles, energies, and aspirations of young people. By engaging seminarians in interactive learning modules, the Commission seeks to prepare them not only as priests of the altar but also as mentors and companions who can walk with youth in their real-life journeys.

The sessions will include:

- Group Dynamics – fostering teamwork, personality growth, communication skills, and conflict resolution.
- Youth Ministry Training – exploring youth challenges, digital lifestyle, accompaniment, and mission in the spirit of Synodality.
- Practical Pastoral Engagement – role-play, leadership exercises, and youth mission planning.

Young people today face a complex world influenced by technology, cultural shifts, and social pressures. Therefore, priests must be equipped with the right tools to listen, guide, and inspire. This initiative ensures that seminarians gain first-hand experience on how to lead youth groups, animate movements, and build vibrant parish communities rooted in Christ. The Commission expresses its gratitude to the Staff of Don Bosco Philosophate for welcoming this collaborative effort. Together, we hope to shape leaders who reflect Christ's compassionate presence — leaders who will journey with the young as Pilgrims of Hope, strengthening the Church's mission in the Telugu region and beyond. May this formation partnership bear fruits of renewed faith, creative ministry, and joyful evangelization among the youth of our dioceses.

This memorable experience strengthened unity among Asian youth and reaffirmed the mission of our young people to walk with Christ, serve with love, and become signs of hope in the Church and society.

The Great Pilgrimage of Hope

Stories from the GPH 2025

Attending The Great Pilgrimage of Hope 2025 in Penang, Malaysia was a deeply inspiring and grace-filled experience. Gathering with young people and leaders from across Asia reminded me that the Church is truly universal – united in faith, diverse in culture, and joyful in hope. Through prayer, cultural fellowship, and meaningful encounters, I felt renewed in my mission as a youth leader and strengthened in the call to walk with and for the young. I am grateful to CCBI, TCBC Youth Commission, and the Archdiocese of Hyderabad for this blessed opportunity to represent the Telugu Catholic youth. This pilgrimage taught me that hope is lived when it is shared – and every young person is called to become a light of Christ in the world. May we continue our journey together as Pilgrims of Hope, spreading joy and faith wherever we go.

- Mr. Raju Challagali,

First of all I want to thank CCBI and Communio for selecting me for The Great Pilgrimage of Hope, Penang, Malaysia. Though I am unworthy to be part of it but God has different plans and made it happen. I have witnessed the great hope in the people of Asian Catholics that we are divided by borders but united in heart in Jesus Christ. My heart is moved to see all the people of God sharing the same table, including Cardinals, Bishops, priests, religious and Laity. We smiled at each other, even we didn't know each other. My takeaway is Spirit of Unity and Journeying together. Once again thank you.

Ms. Amala Ginjala

Attending the Great Pilgrimage of Hope (GPH) in Penang was deeply moving. I got to see firsthand the warmth and diversity of the Asian Church united in faith. The theme, “Journeying together as peoples of Asia and they went a different way” (Mt 2:12) resonated with me. It reminded me that while our paths may differ, our shared mission is to renew Communion, Participation and Mission in the Church. Being welcomed by the Bishop of Penang and leaders of the Federation of Asian Bishops' Conferences made me feel part of a larger spiritual family. This family is committed to walking this journey together. This pilgrimage encouraged me to think about how my faith community can embrace openness, dialogue and collaboration for a more vibrant and inclusive future. It also sparked a renewed hope that through our collective efforts and God's guidance, the Church in Asia can respond with creativity and courage to the challenges we face today.

LEADERS AS PILGRIMS OF HOPE

My Dear Brothers and Sisters,

As the Church continues the Great Pilgrimage of Hope, we are invited to rediscover leadership not as a title, but as a journey — a pilgrimage. A true leader is a pilgrim: someone who walks with people, carries their burdens, and keeps their eyes fixed on a horizon of hope.

Jesus Christ, our model of leadership, chose to walk among the ordinary — healing, lifting, and inspiring. His birth in Bethlehem reveals that hope can emerge from the humblest places. Leadership grounded in this truth transforms hearts and communities.

Today's world is filled with uncertainty — conflicts, loneliness, digital pressures, and fear about the future. In such times, youth leaders are called to become visible signs of hope. Not by moving ahead alone, but by saying: "Let us walk together."

A Pilgrim of Hope:

- Listens with compassion like Mary.
- Guides silently with integrity like St. Joseph.
- Shares Good News with joy like the shepherds.
- Follows the light with perseverance like the Magi.

Our leadership must reflect Christ's mission — to kindle light where darkness grows, to build peace where division spreads, and to remind others that God walks alongside us.

Being a leader is not about reaching the destination first — it is about ensuring no one is left behind on the way. It is about faith that keeps moving forward, even when the road feels long.

May every youth leader of our Church become a pilgrim of hope — courageous in love, committed in service, and creative in faith. As we celebrate the joy of Christ's birth, let His light guide our steps into the new year.

Let us lead... by becoming hope.

With prayers & encouragement,

Challagali Raju
